

Scott Ballum

Community Maker, Small Business Advocate

Scott Ballum is a writer, designer, entrepreneur and sustainable small business advocate. He is the founder and director of the media collaborative Sheepless Co., and online publisher Sheepless.org.

Contact

scott@sheepless.co
917.287.4795

www.sheepless.co
www.sheepless.org
@sheeplessco

Selected Articles

Radical Shopkeeping: Innovation and Entrepreneurship for the People
Huffington Post [Jul 10]

The Rise of the Citizen Entrepreneur Sheepless.org [Feb 10]

Don't Start a Social Enterprise—Unless You Have To
Huffington Post [Dec 09]

Selected Appearances

Brooklyn Community Makers
Panel Moderator [Sep 10]

New Atlantic Independent Booksellers Assoc. Conference
Keynote Speaker [Sep 10]

Arizona State University Innovation Challenge
Juror/Panelist [Apr 10]

Sprout Creek Farm, VT Invited Lecturer [Mar 09]

Bennington College Invited Lecturer [Mar 09]

Interesting:NY Conference Speaker [Sep 08]

Selected Press & Recognition

Silver Awards: Writing and Documentary Video W3 Awards [Oct 10]

The Little Guy Riviera San Diego [Sep 10]

NewYork100 AllDayBuffet [Aug 09]

All Things Considered
National Public Radio [Feb 09]

Consumer Connection
GOOD Magazine [Aug 08]

People to Watch GD USA [Jan 08]

Distinguished Alumni
School of Visual Arts [Sep 07]

"Sheepless.org is a media platform created by and for artists, entrepreneurs, foodies, and environmentalists. We champion progressive small business owners who make our communities more sustainable, more accessible, more creative, and more fun... Scott engages with a growing interest in cultivating local economies, understanding where goods come from, and nourishing our natural resources."